Stay Tuned!

Having so much fun in summer camp that you're sad to see it go? Can't imagine having to wait another year before you get to be in drama again?

Now's your Chance!

OCPA has a brand-new year-long school of drama currently unfolding. Spend your Saturdays working your way through the Conservatory's curriculum. Designed to build well-rounded thespians, these three terms promise to combine the skills you need with the theater that you love!

So make theater a part of YOUR life, and sign up for classes this fall!

Our Mission

The mission of the Oregon Conservatory of Performing Arts is to keep the performing arts alive and within reach of everyone in our community.

Our Values

We believe that all young people should have the opportunity to experience the theatre arts — that a complete education involves knowledge of the arts and participation in them. We teach the process of theatre, helping kids develop self-esteem and communication skills through creativity and teamwork.

Directors' Notes

Every summer, I am reminded how much fun it is to teach acting and movement to children. It takes me back to the days of ballet and dance class and the many hours I spent in training for a life on the stage. Often, my schedule was taxing and I wondered why my folks insisted that I stay so busy....

It might be difficult for those who have not taken an acting class to understand the opportunities that these Arts classes offer. Sure, it is nice to be able to do a turn without falling over or sing a variety of show tunes from memory, but ultimately it is about helping children develop confidence in themselves and give them opportunities to succeed, while being asked to work cohesively with others.

Obviously our shows aren't perfect. We have a stage full of children, some as young as 6 years old! Come to think of it, I've never had a perfect performance. While we spend lots of time working toward Saturday's performances, and it's what the public sees at the end of the three weeks, it isn't the main point of what we do. The question is: Do our campers feel good about what they are doing on stage and are they having a good time doing it?

I love the staff at OCPA. I truly appreciate our teen helpers. Without their help, we wouldn't be able to do what we do.

Fondly,

Andrew Brock

OCPA Show Trivia:

Since Mr. Brock's second camp with OCPA, Treasure Island, we have covertly tried to include a rubber chicken onstage somewhere, or use him as a gag prop, in almost every show. : )

This is the Sock Sloth's stage debut. : )

From the Musical Director

It has been a real pleasure to work with these talented students in our Joust camp. If they have come home tired after camp it is for a good reason. We work them hard. They have gained lots of skills vocally as well as dramatically.

As usual it is always a positive experience to work with Mr. Brock, Mrs. Dady, Laura, Tori, Christina and all of our teen helpers.

My favorite moment of this camp was when Mr. Brock tried to explain the male-female tension in the plot. He inspired several minutes of chaos when he said to the Knights, "Gentlemen, there's something you need to learn... as you get older you need to know that the women are always right." Hilarity ensued.

Thank you for sending us your children every morning for 3 weeks of OCPA camp.

--Marcia Katzmar, Musical Director
